The Benefits of Being Positive

Amy is an HR and Learning and Organizational Development executive that creates award winning human resources and learning and development programs. In her role as Chief Consultant for The Jon Gordon Companies "Power of a Positive Team" Consulting Practice, Amy speaks and leads development programs for executives and their teams all over the world.

Amy is a graduate of the George Mason University's Leadership Coaching for Organizational Well-Being Program and the co-author of "The Energy Bus Field Guide", a road map to fueling your life, work and team with positive energy. Amy is also an active member of SHRM (Society for Human Resource Management) and ATD (Association for Talent Development), because she believes learning and development is a part of maximizing a growth mindset for continuous personal growth and delivering excellence as a part of any organization or team.

In her human resources and organizational development engagements, Amy creates human capital strategies designed to enhance performance and profitability, while building vibrant cultures for any size team to attract and retain top-performing talent.

Amy believes maximum ROI is a result of positive leaders, a compelling vision+mission, an aligned and positive team - coupled with phenomenal communication and execution.

Amy enjoys spending her free time with her husband and four active children. She and her husband are a team dedicated to raising children that will positively impact the world around them.
